Dinosaur Day!

November 22nd

Third grade students will be able to wear their favorite dinosaur SHIRT on Dinosaur Day. Students must wear dress code pants and no masks, costumes, or face paint is allowed. We look forward to seeing some DINO-MITE outfits!

What we are learning:

Math: I can apply properties of operations as strategies to multiply and divide.

Science: I can obtain, evaluate, and communicate information on how fossils provide evidence of organisms that lived long ago.

ELA: I can understand the difference between the author's point of view and my own point of view to help me understand different ways of looking at a topic. I can compare two or more things using adjectives and adverbs. I can use coordinating conjunctions. I can write an opinion and support it with details.

Social Studies: I can explain and describe the Native American Regions in North America
